I have experienced severe adverse health effects from the rollout of the smart utility grid including heart palpitations, dangerous rises in blood pressure, migraine headaches, and severe fatigue. I am calling on a nationwide opt-out program in which each utility throughout the United States provides for an old-fashioned non-transmitting analog meter to those who request it.